EDUCATION TRUST FUND

For The Development of Sound Minds and Skilled Hands

From the editor's desk

The desire of the Federal Government to halt the fallen standard of Nigeria's tertiary educational Institutions necessitated the Education Trust Fund's intervention in the area of Academic Staff Training and Development (AST&D) in 2008. Besides broadening the resource base of academic staff to meet the global challenges of the 21st century, the ETF under our indefatigable Executive Secretary, Professor Mahmood Yakubu, believes that the AST&D programme will propel Nigeria's attainment of Vision 2020 and the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) by improving the quality and nature of teaching in our schools.

Since its introduction in 2008, across the nation's Universities, Polytechnics and Colleges of Education, the AST&D programme has proved to be very successful in achieving its objectives. The tremendous achievements recorded so far is attributable mainly to the massive fund by the ETF and the involvement of the various educational institutions in the programme, particularly on the selection of staff and the relevant academic discipline. At the last count, that is by March 2010, a total of 2,068 lecturers have participated in the ETF-sponsored academic staff development programme. The staff are studying in foreign universities in disciplines spanning medicine, sciences, technology, law among others, at Masters and Doctorate levels as well as on research visits. The ETF-sponsored academic staff are studying in universities in Malaysia, United Kingdom, United States, Canada, South Africa, China, Sweden, Ghana, and Japan. The summary of this need driven initiative and strategy is as follows:

Phd Abroad = 206

Phd Local = 644

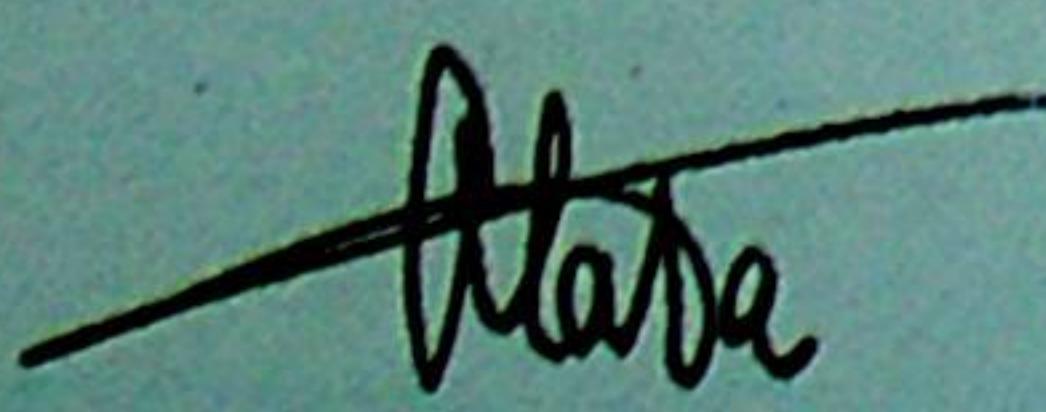

Masters Degree Abroad = 179

Masters Degree Local = 1,039

Total = 2,068

The vision of the ETF is that under the AST&D programme tertiary institutions in Nigeria would be adequately and appropriately positioned to secure the nation's place among the world's 20 economies by the year 2020.

The ETF Board has therefore pledged to continue to provide sufficient funds for the AST&D programme in order to ensure its sustainability and success. This special edition of the ETF News captures the essence of the AST&D programme as well as its impact on Nigeria's educational system.

FOREWORD

To realize our national vision of becoming one of the top 20 economies in the world by 2020AD, Nigeria must produce world class manpower, possible only through world class tertiary institutions equipped not only with the requisite physical infrastructure and instructional facilities but, above all, world class lecturers to impart current and in-depth knowledge, conduct research, publish the outcomes and produce personnel that is nationally competent and globally competitive. The quality of teachers and teaching in our institutions is, therefore, central to the realization of Vision 2020.

In our determination to address this critical reality, the Education Trust Fund (ETF) introduced the Academic Staff Training and Development (AST&D) programme in 2008. A substantial amount of funds was allocated to the public tertiary institutions to encourage the training of lecturers at Masters and Doctoral levels within and outside Nigeria as well as exposure to advanced laboratory facilities (benchwork) for those undergoing their studies in the sciences within the country. Our idea is to break the unhealthy culture of inbreeding of lecturers by exposing them to other intellectual traditions consistent with the true meaning of universities (and other tertiary institutions) as "universal places of knowledge". The benefitting institutions recommended their lecturers for sponsorship in accordance with the guidelines provided by ETF. We have taken care to make adequate financial provision for the statutory duration of courses such that no ETF-sponsored scholar suffers a setback as a result of inadequacy of funds. ETF made a similar provision for AST&D in our 2009 and 2010 intervention budgets and we are determined to sustain the tempo annually.

By March 2010, barely one and a half years after the introduction of the programme, a total 2,068 lecturers across the tertiary institutions have so far benefitted, out of which 385 of them are studying abroad.

In this special publication, and in the interest of transparency and accountability, we present our score card on AST&D with a detailed account of the lecturers sponsored: their names, type of programme (Masters or PhD) enrolled, destination (within and outside the country) and duration of courses.

While the response from the institutions is generally commendable, we appeal to those that are yet to submit their nominations since 2008 to do so in earnest, hoping that this publication will ginger them into action and anyone in a position to coerce or cajole compliance will join us in the onerous task of changing the Nigerian education landscape for the better.

Professor Mahmood Yakubu
Executive Secretary
