INTRODUCTION

The main thrust of the Shekarau administration has been human capital development. Since young people aged between 10 to 24 years constitute one third of the nation's population according to the National Policy on Youth, the administration has accorded the highest priority to education, further training and skills acquisition, including generous scholarships to this target group. Between the years 2003 to 2007, the Office of the Special Adviser Youth Development trained and empowered over 4,000 youths. To build on this foundation, after his re-election of the Executive governor of Kano State, Malam Ibrahim Shekarau created the Directorate of Youth Development (DYD) under the Special Adviser, Gambo Ado, who also doubles as Director-General, to be a focused and result oriented intervention agency. The directorate is expected to target 40,000 youths of the state, who would benefit from different entrepreneurial, vocational and skills acquisition programmes, between the years 2007 to 2011. Key target groups for the DYD have already been identified in both the State Economic Road Map or Kano State Development Plan and the Program and Action Plan 2007-2011 of the DYD.

For the year 2009 a total of 10,000 youth were targeted for skills training and empowerment. However in line with the lessons learnt in previous years, a new model of youth empowerment is being piloted in Kano state. To further strengthen the resolve of youths who have been given value reorientation, entrepreneurial and vocational skills training to make a success of their chosen professions, and to resist societal pressure to sell off their trade-tools with which they are usually empowered, the DYD is now introducing the idea of clustering as many related micro, small and medium scale enterprises in a "business park", as possible, in the locality of the beneficiaries. This achieves synergy for the related enterprises, ensures sustainability by attracting customers for all the enterprises by anyone who chooses to patronize a single one, makes monitoring easier and improves security.

The idea is that for each occupational cluster, government will acquire or provide physical and other supporting infrastructures, as well as start up capital. The beneficiaries after undergoing training will then run their enterprises jointly in small groups of two to ten for profit. Government will lease the facilities for each production cycle, six months to a year for agriculture related vocations. After harvesting their products, beneficiaries might wish to lease for another cycle, because they are entitled to use them continuously on lease. Maintenance of the facilities is shared jointly with the government.

For vocations that can be viable without clustering, they will be allowed to be at their varied locations. Other sub-groups like graduate beneficiaries will be trained and linked to selected financial institutions for access to financial resources to actualize their business dreams.

This booklet has been prepared to give an overview of the Directorate as well as summary of its activities in the last five years and its future plans.

Summary of Youth Empowerment Programme 2004-2008:

Some of the activities during this period included provision of tools and equipment for the first batch of 2,000 youth trained in various vocations (half of the 4,000 trained in the period) at a cost of N96m. The sum of N40m was also expended as grants of N10,000 to each beneficiary for rent of their new business premises and another N10,000 to each as working capital. Therefore total cost of post training empowerment came to over N136m.

Another programme was the Youth Empowerment through Irrigated Agriculture, where beneficiaries were trained in crop production, livestock farming, water pump maintenance and farm management. Post training empowerment including agricultural tools and equipment and working capital grants total N32m.

Some 500 youths underwent three months Computer Literacy and Competency training and were given grants of complete set of computers with accessories and N25,000 each to rent business premises, resulting in total expenditure of over N68m. To bring to an end political thuggery by misguided youth groups and wean them off substance abuse as well, a Jagaliya Youth Rehabilitation programme was successfully implemented to the tune of N65m. These youths, numbering 500 were given basic technical/ vocational skills and entrepreneurial education to make them self-employed. Other youths who constituted themselves into a nuisance especially at major roads and motor parks (street youths), about 235, were enrolled in a Special Youth empowerment programme, consisting of intensive tarbiyya (moral) education, Qur'anic recitation, muamalat (social relations) and ibadat (worship); coupled with physical, health and business education for self reliance. Over N28 million was expended on training and empowerment of this group. Over N15m was also expended as government contribution to joint programmes on youth empowerment in collaboration with local NGOs, federal government agencies and MDG office.

DISTRIBUTION OF FORMS AND SCREENING

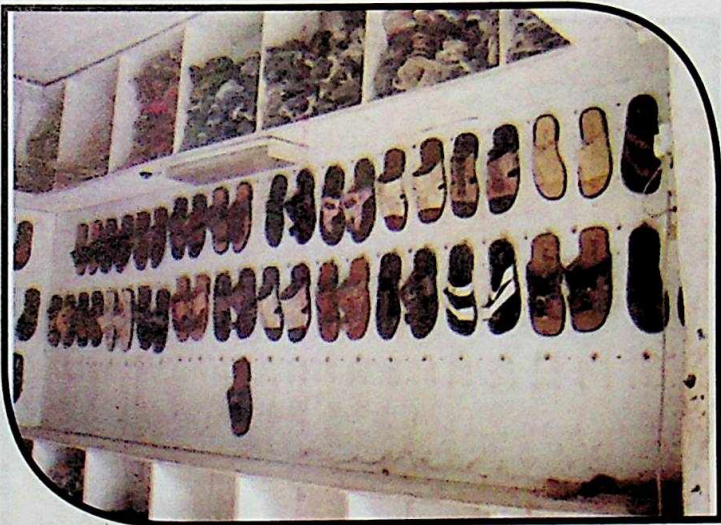

Purpose designed forms were printed, each with a unique serial number for the purpose of starting the Kano State Youth Database (KSYDB). The forms distributed were circulated by three methods through the office of the Coordinator, Youth Empowerment Program: applicants could collect forms in person from the DYD; Youth and Volunteer organizations applied for the number of forms their members require; and Local Government and other appointed and elected public officials were given a certain number of forms for distribution to the grassroots. Thus the forms spread to the 44 local governments of the state. About 15,000 forms were distributed. Data collected will be seed of a database to be fully developed later on.

Collection of the forms was done by the staff of the Coordinator, Youth Empowerment program.

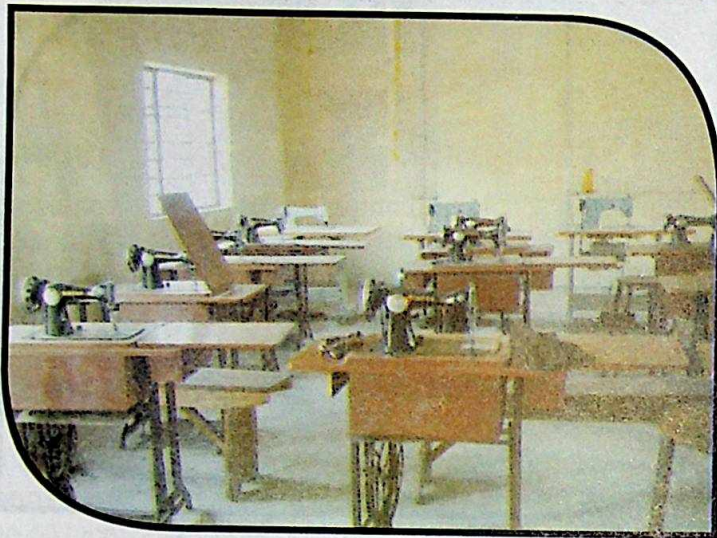

Staff of the DYD screened the forms to ensure they were filled correctly. A file was opened for each respondent and an ID card issued out, with a passport picture, their name, form number, LG of birth and chosen trade. The forms were used in collation of essential list in a tabular form, with one table (Appendix II) showing Distribution of Vocation for post-primary Graduates. ISLAMIC RE-ORIENTATION / CAMPING OF UNEMPLOYED YOUTHS (MALES) ROUND ONE

For the purpose of setting the selected youths on a track of success with their chosen professions and to ensure that they resist the negative forces that may seek to retard their progress, it has been found necessary to subject the youths to a value re-orientation course. This is meant to inspire them to become models and to live by the highest standards of a Muslim society as individuals and as corporate leaders in the business world. The plan was to camp ten thousand YEP beneficiaries for 2009 in batches, at a suitable sites in the state.

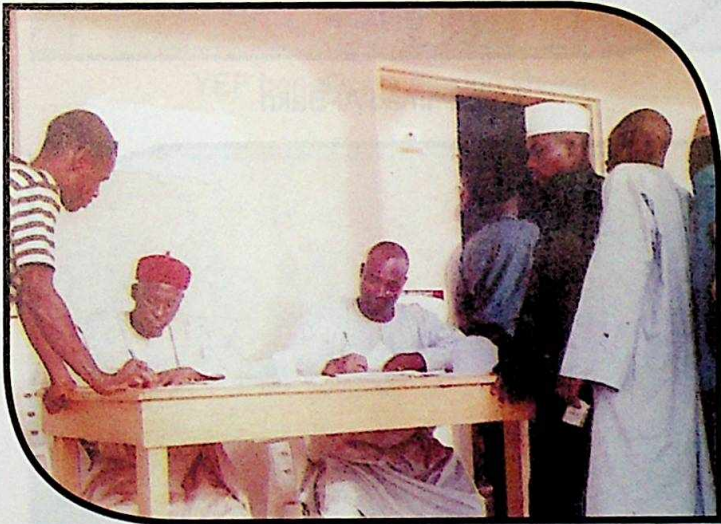

Between 2nd to 4th December, 2009, Kusalla, Karaye NYSC Permanent Orientation Camp hosted the round one of the male unemployed youths for a three day Islamic Re-orientation course. The objective is to focus the mind of the selected youths on their self-employment objective and make concrete linkages between, soon to be embarked upon skill acquisition and viable self-employment.

As part of lessons learnt from previous exercises, it has been found crucial to impress on the youth the need to imbibe the virtues of hardwork, dignity of labour, honesty, remaining sober and keeping away from bad company. With the wind of positive ethical re-orientation already sweeping through the society, the lectures delivered in classes, talks in the assembly hall, physical exercises in the sports fields and spiritual exercises along with sermons in the mosque, all draw upon the learning traditions of Islam, with its rich lore on self-reliance, care for one's neighbor, commitment to the well being of the community and faith in an All-Seeing but Most Compassionate Divine Lord.

As earlier mentioned, 2,540 youths (males) have completed Islamic Reorientation Camping at Kusalla NYSC Orientation Camp, Karaye (2nd - 4th December, 2009) and have been enlisted for training and empowerment in various agricultural trades.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP TRAINING FOR UNEMPLOYED GRADUATES OF TERTIARY INSTITUTIONS

For numerous reasons that need not detail us, Nigeria has been turning out more graduates than the economy can absorb. The result is graduate unemployment. The intervention required is to re-align the skills of the graduates to the gaps in the market for goods and services, and to ensure that they take advantage of the societal needs for such services and goods to make themselves economically independent.

Entrepreneurship training is an aspect of education that teaches entrepreneurial skills, qualities and functions to persons, who wish to become active players in the economy, either in the Small and Medium Enterprises(SMEs) or in other sectors. It could also be training given to persons to enable them identify their potentials and harness them to become commercial ventures and generate income. It is about skills, aptitudes and attitudes to turn opportunities into reality. At the end of their training, candidates of the training will be innovative, creative and skillful enough to manage business enterprises on a sustainable basis for self reliance.

The plan was that about 1000 Tertiary Institutions graduates underwent entrepreneurship training by three selected organizations, after which they will be linked to two financial institutions with whom DYD has a working relationship, namely, UBA Plc and Integrated Microfinance Bank. This is to give the youths access to financial resources to enable them put their skills to create viable and sustainable enterprises, that will hopefully employ many others as they grow.

The objective of training unemployed graduates in entrepreneurship is to prepare the youth to be responsible, enterprising and for them to become entrepreneurial thinkers who can take risks, manage results and utilize the business opportunities that exist in the world. To achieve this, DYD engaged competent institutions to deliver this training. The entrepreneurship training was provided at four different training centers:: School of Rural Technology and Entrepreneurship Development (SORTED) Rano, Sa'adatu Rimi College of Education (SRCOE) Kumbotso, School of Technology (SOT) Kano and OIC International Kano.

Prior to the training, the training institutions harmonized the content of what to be taught to the participants. Thus, apart from the Entrepreneurship Development Skills, Vocational Skill Acquisition was incorporated in the training. Further, Mentoring, Leadership, Business Development Services, Excursion, Community Service, Sports/Physical Exercises and Islamic reorientation (Qur'an and Tarbiyya) were incorporated in the overall training skills.

In the Skill Acquisition the young Entrepreneur's (participants) were exposed to the Skills of Poultry, Hatchery, Fish farming, Bee keeping, Animal Husbandry, and Fattening. There was also mentoring on Borehole, Auto-mechanic, Business Centers, Bakery, Art work and Printing, Snacks/Drink making and Business opportunities in Agricultural and non-Agricultural vocations. The participants were also taken to Incubation Centre at Farm-centre Kano as part of the excursion programme. Similarly, they were engaged in community service at the end of each week. They visited the Orphanage-house at Nassarawa and conducted sanitation exercises at various locations in the state.

The 1,000 participants drawn from all the 44 Local Government Areas of Kano State had 878 male participants (88%) and 122 female participants (12%). 565 participants have a National Diploma, 356 have Nigeria Certificate in Education (NCE), 47 have a Degree Certificate, 13 have Higher National Diploma (HND) and 19 have Advanced-Diploma in various disciplines. Further analysis has shown that 82% of the participants intend to pursue business in Agricultural Sector and 18% intend to go non-Agricultural business. SORTED Rano had 400 participants, SRCOE Kumbotso trained 300 participants, OIC International Kano State trained 200 participants and School of Technology

(SOT) Kano trained 100 participants

As he did for all camping sites and training venues involved in the Youth Empowerment Programme, the Director-General (DG) Gambo Ado visited all the centers during Islamic orientation/camping and training. At each centre, the DG stresses the Kano state Government's commitment to Youth Development with emphasis on education, empowerment and Islamic-reorientation. He also appealed to the entrepreneurship training participants to become role-models and never misuse the opportunities provided to them by the Executive Governor of Kano State, Sardauan Kano, Malam Ibrahim Shekarau. At the end of the training, many of the participants openly praised the DYD Kano State for this initiative and prayed that this exercise be continued so that others can also benefit.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR YOUTHS AND WOMEN

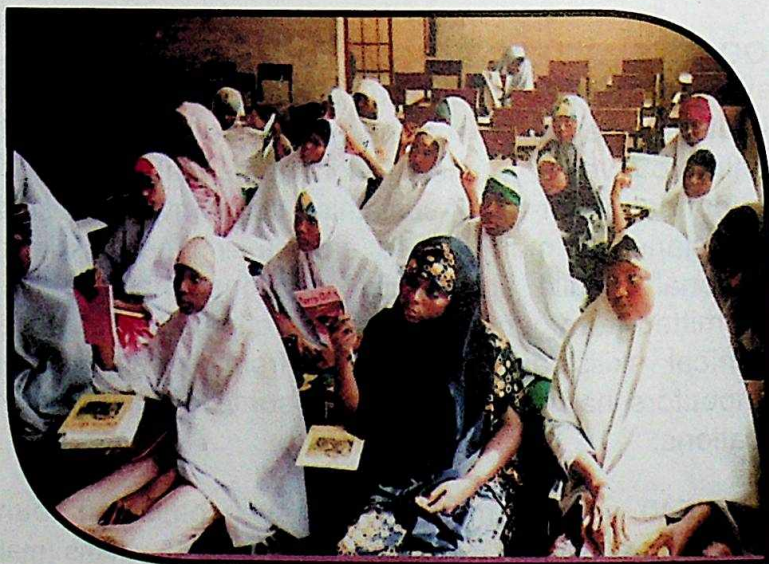

Beyond the mere neutralisation of negative socio-economic fallouts of unemployment and poverty reduction, vocation training to diverse youths throughout the state will help lay the foundation for a self-sustaining economy. Because the beneficiaries in many cases are infusing new skills into traditional / guild and family vocations, that are being transmitted from generation to generation. Lack of modern technical skills and competition from better managed competitors had been a threat to some of the traditional vocations.

The 2,540 youths (males) that have completed round-one of the Islamic Reorientation and 2,765 youths (males and females) would undergo Islamic Reorientation at Kusalla and Kano, and would complete their vocational training by 25th December, 2009 are scheduled for training and empowerment in various vocations and trades.

FEMALE SKILL ACQUISITION IN COSMETICS AND LIVESTOCK

As at the time of going to press, the females registered in the 2009 YEP have already started a one week training in Cosmetics and Livestock, at the IBB Way, Sani Abacha Skill Acquisition Centre. About 510 females were registered. Experienced resource persons were engaged in the training. At the end of the training, the participants are expected to acquire skills in making women bodycare and home hygiene items, like liquid soap, turaren wuta, Humra, beads and toothpaste, with value addition.

EMPOWERMENT

This is the stage where the final legal steps are taken to handover equipment, tools, premises and other infrastructure, including working capital to deserving beneficiaries. On their part, they are expected to be prompt in payment of leasing fees at the onset of each product cycle, where appropriate, or on an annual basis.

For the unemployed graduates being supported with a bank loan, the Kano State Government would guarantee the loan and also bear the interest burden on the loan. This should ease the burden of repayment and ensure sustainability.

OUTSTANDING FINANCIAL REQUIREMENT TO COMPLETE YEP 2009

To ensure implementation of YEP for the first batch of 6,397 youths, the Directorate needs funding to the tune of N572,913,997.01, from the funds already approved but not yet released.

S/No	ACTIVITY	No of Trainees	Cost (N)	Fund Release (N)	Unreleased Funds (N)
	A. CAMPING
1	Round One & Two Camping	4,000	18 million	9 million	9 million
	B. TRAINING
2	Vocational and Entrepreneurial training	6,397	65 million	50 million	15 million
	C. EMPOWERMENT
3	Crop production, products processing and food preservation	1,088	7 million	unreleased	7 million

6	Various trades other than agriculture	2,723	To be costed	-----	-----
	TOTAL			59 million	572, 913,997.01

Of the two approvals of N9m each granted to the Directorate for camping of 4000 youths at N18m, N9m was released to the Directorate, and was used for the following :-

- Islamic Reorientation Camping of 2,220 youths at NYSC Orientation camp, Kusalla of Karaye LGA held from 2nd - 4th December, 2009.
- Islamic Reorientation Camping of 790 female candidates at 5 different centers from 4th - 6th December, 2009.

- Islamic Reorientation Camping of 1000 Tertiary Institutions participants (youths).

With the completion of Islamic Re-orientation Programme. DYD has already commenced training of 1000 tertiary institutions graduates in entrepreneurship. It has also started training of 500 women in agro-products processing and cosmetics.

In conclusion, it is expected that all the participants (3,628) non-tertiary institutions participants would be ready for empowerment after their vocational training with effect from 25th December, 2009

The remaining of 1,765 participants representing other trades would commence their training immediately and their empowerment would take place in January, 2010.

In effect the Directorate requires funds as par approval given to effect the empowerment of 3,628 youths before the end of 2009, while the empowerment of 1765 youths would be required immediately in 2010.

The only problem is from the economic melt down, in the form of a letter from the ministry of Planning dated 1st December, 2009 indicating a budget cut of 65% of the youth empowerment programme from N700m to N250m.

DYD has already commenced the 2009 youth empowerment Programme and is committed to the participants and willing to execute it to logical conclusion. DYD hopes that Government would allow the Programme to be concluded so as to proceed into the second phase of the Youth Empowerment Programme in earnest and in good time.

AN OUTLINE OF ACTIVITIES FOR 2010 YOUTH DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

- * Completion of Empowerment activities: giving out tools and places of vocations. (January - February).
- * Armed Forces Remembrance Week. (January 15, 2010)
- * Enmass Registration of all uniformed organisations in kano state, as a means of boosting youth development through training and inculcation of discipline, endurance and spirit of community consciousness. (February-March).
- * Admission of second set of students for skill acquisition at IBB Way, Sani Abacha Vocation centre. (February-August).
- * Registration and continuous sensitisation of applicants for 2010 Youth Empowerment Programme (YEP). (April, 2010).
- * International Youth Week Activities. (March - April).
- * Youth Development Camps at Karaye NYSC permanent orientation camp, for youth organisations from local government areas. (Monthly).

Activities for the year 2010 will be informed by lessons learnt so far, from the preceding years. Infact, international development partners (DFID) have observed that given the magnitude of the youth unemployment situation, with an estimated 3,000,000 (three million) youths in that situation, there is need to double the target beneficiary population in the coming year, compared to the 2009 target.

His Excellency, Malam Ibrahim Shekarau, the Governor of Kano State, at the swearing in ceremony of the elected Kano State Chapter leaders of National Youth Council of Nigeria.
